General Comment

I believe my hard work that I have worked on as an American artist should've not be used without proper compensation. There's nothing free use or transformative. The software is glorified tracing our work which is protected under copyright which was created to protect the American dream. They couldn't go through proper channels to get permission and trained off data from companies and even low income artist. If the American dream can't even protect my hard work and dedication how do I know that they even have any dedication to America and the American dream as a whole. The pursuit for happiness is being challenged more and more. By letting copyright laws be ignored will further destroy business and independent artist just trying to make a living.
