General Comment

AI is an extremely over hyped product that clearly is overinflated in value, much like the crypto, NFT, and metaverse bubbles before it. It does real harm to countless industries but especially creative ones. Every time I see AI art I am disgusted twice, one that I have to have terrible art pushed on me and second that there are real talented people who could have made said art but instead someone decided to make the most soulless thing imaginable. I don't think it belongs anywhere in our government.
