General Comment

This is a moronic move among an entire forty-seven car pile up of moronic moves, and only the most willfully ignorant kool-aid guzzling sycophants would even entertain the idea that this is in any way going to be anything besides a cluster of copyright lawsuits slamming into dozens of machine learning companies that will almost immediately fizzle out and be replaced by dozens more until the industry gets bored with "a.i." and moves on to the next fad. Leaving us stuck with the bill and the mess AGAIN.
