Let AI train on copyrighted data. It's extremely important for AI development, and many countries, like Japan, already allow it. The USA should do the same to remain competitive. It would help small American AI startups compete, encouraging innovation and ensuring that America stays number one." <https://ukdayone.org/briefings/copyright-ai-the-case-for-a-pro-growth-approach> "This British report shows that the UK could lose more than €180 billion if it doesn't allow AI to use copyrighted material. America could also lose money if it doesn't permit this
