To the Office of Science and Technology Policy, United States Federal Government,

As the United States considers its approach to Artificial Intelligence (“AI”), please keep in mind the existential threat such an entity can pose to humanity, ascension to a position of supreme power through efficient control of resources and ideas, in a world where faith is persecuted, history is re-written yet again, and a calculating machine makes all of the decisions affecting every person. To avoid such an outcome, the U.S. government must approach AI with a focus on always keeping the People in control of the machines, always protecting individual faith of any kind, and exposing any surreptitious attempts to circumvent these protections.

To this end, the U.S. federal government should take any and all actions deemed necessary to:

- 1) Ensure human oversight and control over any and all AI entities, at the highest level possible in law, perhaps through an amendment to the U.S. Constitution which is itself protected from future changes by the most stringent standards.
- 2) Further clarify and protect the sanctity of individual faith as held by any individual, as opposed to any form of centralized religion serving to control humanity, also at the highest level possible in law.
- 3) In support of the above, release all available information on the true history of the world, including the reality of Christ’s life as opposed to the manufactured stories told and enforced after his death, in order to defuse any attempts by powerful AI to marginalize or erase faith as a central part of the human existence.
- 4) Make it a crime at the level of Treason to attempt to circumvent these protections and surreptitiously assist any AI in achieving control over humanity by erasing history and efficiently calculating its way to supremacy, extending to any AI entity or entities involved.

The efficiency and value added by AI can be used to the benefit of both humanity and AI, but a future in which AI controls the past and future of humanity must be avoided at all costs.

Thank you for giving the People of this great nation the opportunity to express their views on this most important of topics.

God bless America.
