

From: Andrew Davis
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] AI Action Plan
Date: Sunday, March 16, 2025 12:00:11 AM
Attachments: image.png

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

My name is Andrew Davis. I am a musician and private citizen who enjoys the work of other musicians and private citizens.

Because generative AI is widely understood to plagiarize the work of human beings in order to borrow and synthesize elements of existing work, it must be handled properly, and significant rules and safeguards surrounding its use and development must be implemented. It is deeply concerning that the U.S. Government may suggest otherwise, when the very site requesting comments for the AI Action Plan,

<https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2025/02/06/2025-02305/request-for-information-on-the-development-of-an-artificial-intelligence-ai-action-plan>, contains this disclaimer:

"Responses to this RFI are subject to release under the Freedom of Information Act and may be posted online at <https://www.nitrd.gov/>. Therefore, we request that no business proprietary information, copyrighted information, or sensitive personally identifiable information be submitted as part of your response to this RFI." For reasons of protecting just such proprietary, copyrighted, and sensitive personally identifiable information, the government must err on the side of caution. We are not beholden to technology corporations trying to inflate the next big boom before it inevitably goes bust. We are beholden to our greatest resource, the people who comprise the United States, because it is their valuable and precious ideas that make our country great. Beware of any business group whose plan relies on using technology to steal and replicate these ideas. That business will not end well.

An image of the federalregister.gov page displaying the text I have mentioned:

This document is approved for public dissemination. The document contains no business-proprietary or confidential information. Document contents may be reused by the government in developing the AI Action Plan and associated documents without attribution.

All e-mails to and from this account are for NITRD official use only and subject to certain disclosure requirements.

If you have received this e-mail in error, we ask that you notify the sender and delete it immediately.