AI is not capable of what it is alleged to be capable of by the vast majority of marketing that has been produced for it. AI is a very simple tool that is capable of very simplistic pattern-related tasks. AI does not have the ability to do anything close to what humans are able to do. It cannot replace humans. If we are going to use AI to replace humans, we will experience a massive downgrade in standards for whatever it is applied to. If this admin has truly bought into the misleading marketing around AI as much as they appear to have and believe that it is so critical to the nation, then AI should be defined as a public good and taken into the ownership of the public, for it's benefits to be shared collectively, rather than by the few tech companies, whose interests are not in improving the lives of Americans.
