Hello White House Officials,

If AI dominance means producing as much soulless slop as other countries then you're wearing blinders, focusing only on the snake oil sold to you by the destructive companies known as OpenAi, Google, and Meta. If you choose to support these companies in destroying human creativity, uniqueness, and nuance then you are supporting a legacy of despair.

I have seen the results of how AI dumbs people down, making them incapable of sending simple emails all the way up to being unable to write and navigate academic work. It is anti-intellectual and will only set back our nation further as the people start relying on these language models. They will forget how to speak, read, analyze, and create, thus perpetuating our nationwide problem of unhappiness because we desire immediate results. People should be encouraged to face intellectual challenge and the AI companies would rather make us dumber so they can make billions.

It is recommended to have actual creatives and humanity academics to consult on AI decisions. There is a reason why they make STEM students take humanities and its to ground them in the nuance of our complex minds. Keep in your mind that AI will always be underwhelming in its current framework and the environmental and cultural negatives are not worth chasing a lie thats sold to you by tech billionaires. Remember, we don't even know how the human mind works, so why do they keep saying Artificial General Intelligence (AGI) is only a few years away? They're grifting. They want to sell out the American people, the world, for their own pockets. Any administration with compassion for their people will realize how damaging this theft machine is and heavily dictate that they cannot use copyrighted works and limit their power grid usage, especially for AI Gen.

Also, man, finding real images on the internet is impossible now! It sucks!

Sincerely,

A Critical Citizen
