

3/13/2025 via FDMS

Charles Slucher, [REDACTED]

Guardrails and protections are needed to prevent cyber security risks, fraud, and domestic terrorism. Legal and ethical guidelines are needed before there is a disaster not after. Our government shouldn't be changing the laws to protect it's most powerful lobbyists but rather should be enforcing the laws meant to protect it's citizens. This appears to be an attempt to protect wealthy investors whose technology is based entirely on stealing the labor of everyone in order to put Americans out of work.