To whom it may concern,

And if concerns everyone. If AI is allowed to continue unchecked, and copyright laws are allowed to disappear, they world is going to become so very dull. The servers it takes to use generative AI are extremely damaging to the environment. Any creative endeavor will also either and die, since very few true creative will be willing to continue sharing their work and ideas with the world. All AI will end up looking and sounding exactly the same, as they're going to end up training on the same limited materials over and over again.

AI needs limitations. Please consider the future for your children.
