

From: Christine Griffin
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] Protecting small businesses from genAI overreach...
Date: Monday, March 17, 2025 9:21:15 AM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

If copyright is "pardoned" for generative AI programs (such as Open AI), this will be yet another example of the current US gov't destroying the small businesses that make up the heart and soul of the United States of America. These massive AI companies DO have the money to pay for licensing, but they don't want to. They simply want to ride roughshod on small creators and take whatever they desire, which then proceeds to directly compete with us (using ingredients stolen from us) to run us out of business (because we don't have the resources to fight them), thereby decreasing the amount of human-made product they can (hopefully legally) license, further down the line. Their goal to be cheap, greedy and indiscriminate is cruel and ugly, and will ultimately lead to failure.

Please consider maintaining copyright to protect America's small businesses and independent creators! We are a country of brilliance, but we can't do that if we can't make a living, if we're beaten down by behemoth corporations.

Sincerely,
Christine Griffin
Commercial and Fine Artist

--

Christine Griffin
artist/illustrator/moonshine sipper
