The plan as suggested essentially removes all copyright protections for every piece ever created in direct opposition to copyright law. Essentially a few corporations will own the exclusive use of all works created and protected under US law. This will lead to direct and irreparable harm to the US economy.

If AI corporations are allowed unrestricted use of copyrighted material, be it written, visual, audio or other, they must fairly compensate the copyright holders from gross proceeds of all AI generated works. Essentially, the AI corporation must transfer 100% of all revenue to the copyright holder. Anything less is tantamount to copyright infringement and theft.

As an example, then entirety of President Trump's book "The Art of the Deal" could be ingested and used to produce a nearly identical work for profit with no proceeds going to the original author.

Thank you for your consideration and rejection of this AI plan.
