Evan Fridrich

I was born and raised in this country and never in a million years did I expect that we would be so rotten to the core as we are today. AI is, for lack of a better term, downright satanic in its insidiousness and will poison the minds and hearts of the American People. I, as an American Citizen, will exercise my right to say that I want my country to abandon AI, and foster industries and technologies that celebrate HUMAN ingenuity and HUMAN spirit. Humanity first over all other things.
