To whom it may concern,

LLMs (Large Language Models)/ "AI" is - in practice - 90-odd-percent Snake Oil; it frequently relies on slave labor to spot things the "AI" misses, it is a profound waste of energy, has a gigantic carbon footprint; it is massively unpopular in Every creative field and beyond; it is partly responsible for the chip shortage; has only exacerbated the problem with mineral extraction, and the associated slave labor/human rights abuses. On top of all of that there is a finite ceiling on what it can learn, and we are rapidly approaching that ceiling. This is to say nothing of the privacy concerns, RE: data brokers, non-consensual pornography (Deepfakes, etc...), bots, creating simulacra of deceased persons for all manner of nefarious purposes (which has already happened at least once: look up Utah/Anne Frank). It enables and encourages human laziness and intellectual atrophy in the WORST way; it is gatekept based on inherited wealth... The list is as extensive as it is ghoulish. I haven't even mentioned the fact that legislation - historically - tends to lag behind technology, which creates a plethora of opportunities for bad actors. Knowledge is power, so look to Actual Experts for help in this matter: it affects All of Us.

Sincerely,

A Concerned Citizen
