

2/6/2025 via FDMS

JD McDell

Artificial Intelligence platforms, in their current form, illegally obtain publicly available, copyrighted information in order to siphon money and employment opportunities away from individual contributors and towards already powerful tech companies and executives.