My name is Jake Logsdon. AI is technology built on theft. Corporations train their models off of work stolen from hard working Americans, and even if it was useful, that is unacceptable and should not be a part of this country's future. AI is a bubble based on tech that doesn't exist that is being used to threaten American's jobs and livelihoods. Corporate bullying of the working class is not something the government should endorse. It is used to cut artists out of the process of making art directly by ripping off their work. It's filth and it has no place anywhere but the garbage.
