My name is James ayers, and i am a concerned citizen. I find this attempted intergration of language learning models (and other technologies referred to as "AI") into governmental practice to be a tremendous threat to the privacy and wellbeing of every American citizen. Let it be known that I, and many other visual and/or motion artists like myself, are heavily against the normalization and profitization of these technologies as they pose a risk to human creativity and is designed to do away with jobs that people study many passionate years to do.
