

3/5/2025 via FDMS

Karen Daniels

As we develop the next AI Action Plan, I think the following will be crucial components: *

- making our data centers energy-efficient and water-efficient
- * protecting artists' and writers' and scientists' intellectual property
- * protecting individuals' privacy, by not having their data used without their informed consent
- * funding the development of both new algorithms and new science that uses them
- * allowing international collaboration to make these advances
- * educating the public about the benefits and dangers of AI