

Lorin Symington

For the good of the light of consciousness, open source ai must be incentivized. Building up the public wealth of ai systems and open source software is the only durable solution that will prevent tyranny and over concentration of power. If the USA embraces OSS at the highest levels it puts us on a path to a golden age.