

3/13/2025 via FDMS

Luke Maddalena, [REDACTED]

My Name is Luke Maddalena and I am a second-semester senior at Avonwroth High School. I studied generative AI and its impact on the wrestling community in a course on AI and ethics this year. From my research, I think the current administration's viewpoint on AI regulation is beneficial to society. The innovation of AI will support what needs support and leave alone communities that won't benefit from AI filling in such as the wrestling community. Communities built on physical growth and human interaction will not need the progress of generative AI however AI's progression will not disturb the future of the wrestling community. I believe that we can live in a world where humans thrive from the utilization of AI while keeping tradition, culture, and values relevant in the social and economic world. Holding back AI's progress in the hope of preserving human control over the world will only hurt us in the long run. AI is completely situational and in situations where it is not as appropriate like the wrestling community, it can remain in the backseat. This administration's viewpoint, and my research in the course, says that AI will be a tool and progress in the future, but not replace humans.