This document seeks to give OpenAI access to information without following existing copyright laws. To allow ANY private company unfettered access to personal information, without oversight or legal protection, would be a grave risk to every individual. What would stop OpenAI from accessing PII, HIPAA protected data, or bank accounts? What would hold them accountable if they copy published works and then try to sue claiming they were the originator? The law must apply equally to ALL individuals, including technologies. Please do not go forward with this.
