

3/10/2025 via FDMS

Menarul Alam

I like the approach of light touch regulations. Given that China is right behind us with AI, I don't think we should overregulate. We should also work to subsidize our nascent chip industry since China is also very close behind with chips. Energy is another area that requires deregulation and investment. All 3 combined should lead to a great AI future controlled by America.