

From: Nolan Vancey
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] AI Action Plan
Date: Saturday, March 15, 2025 10:34:15 PM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

As a published author and small businessman who depends on the fruits of my creative labor to make a living, I absolutely would not want to see copyright protections weakened for any reason. If big tech companies want to profit off of my work, they should pay me for the privilege or face the liability of court proceedings. Giving these companies free reign to appropriate any material they can suck up will destroy America's cultural production and discourage individuals and companies from other countries from publishing within our borders out of justifiable concern that their work will be pirated. Far from strengthening our nation, the digital boondoggle known as "AI" will hollow out our creative arts and our research community, and make us dumber as a people.

Nolan Vancey, author

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S24, an AT&T 5G smartphone

All e-mails to and from this account are for NITRD official use only and subject to certain disclosure requirements.

If you have received this e-mail in error, we ask that you notify the sender and delete it immediately.