

From: Raven Lente
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] AI Action Plan
Date: Monday, March 17, 2025 9:21:09 AM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

Hello,

I am just one artist in this country, but I know my voice speaks for the millions of us in it. I firmly believe that AI creations should never be subject to copyright, trademark, or any other official recognition that is allotted to creative works be they visual, written, or filmed.

For one, AI generated works are not original, they are the Frankenstein production of hundred of millions of stolen works, scalped from every corner of the internet without the public's consent. This is an infringement of personal security as in the example of Google AI being able to pull data from sensitive emails and documents in your google drive and storage.

If a human is not able to copyright a stolen product, why should AI companies be allowed to do the same? If companies are recognized as legal entities similar to the citizens of the United States, then the products they produce should be subject to the same laws that we citizen must abide by. Allowing AI generated works with only hurt our economy and society in the long run as already the general public grows tired and resentful of companies that utilize AI generated works in their marketing and products. As more artist and creatives loose their jobs to AI at the large corporate level, the audiences that consume the material will grow tired of the lifeless nature of AI generated works as it does not carry the human spirit that we can relate to in works produced by humans.

All this to say, giving into this push for AI will not bring us into the future. There is no future with out human creativity and ingenuity. Yes AI can be a helpful tool, but it should never replace the humans it feeds off of.

All e-mails to and from this account are for NITRD official use only and subject to certain disclosure requirements.

If you have received this e-mail in error, we ask that you notify the sender and delete it immediately.