

2/27/2025 via FDMS

Sandie Parrott

AI must not be used to describe or prescribe an individual person's medical condition or treatment. This information should be unique to the individual and their treatment. It must not be an AI produced summary or description. It must be produced by the doctor directly to the individual. And this information must be available to the patient.