

Sean Brautigan

To whom it may concern,

Of all the modern technologies that have graced our nation, I do not believe AI is going to be beneficial for the American people long term. I believe this item/tech has been dishonestly overhyped by the various tech industries seeking both unwitting customers and speculative profit. There are many Americans crucial to the soul of the nation, being honest hard working people in various visual, and, auditory, and literary professions, helping craft the American identity, who's livelihoods are threatened by this technology.

What is especially egregious is the fact that these AI technologies have been trained with the various medias of our entire collected history without the permission of the media creators, with a goal of replacing all those unique creators and creations with their own technology. How can such a technology be praised when it only exists because others' works were unlawfully used without their permission?

This document is approved for public dissemination. The document contains no business-proprietary or confidential information. Document contents may be reused by the government in developing the AI Action Plan and associated documents without attribution.