

3/13/2025 via FDMS

Patrick Sinnott, [REDACTED]

As they presently exist, AI technology is simply a copyright laundering machine that's been unable to deliver on its lofty promises. Weakening copyright law to prop up this failing business can only stand to weaken the united states cultural dominance in the entertainment industry while burning valuable investment capital.