

From: Steph Cherrywell
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] AI Action Plan
Date: Sunday, March 16, 2025 12:42:54 AM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

Hi! I'm a librarian and a published author of two books from Little, Brown. I'm writing to urge you not to legalize the theft of copyrighted intellectual property from authors, artists, writers, and other creatives in order to train AI models. These models must use public domain data or else obtain permission and compensate creators for the use of their property; any other standard would be legalized piracy. If AI companies cannot be profitable without the theft of IP, they cannot be profitable - truly innovative companies do not need the crutch of theft. Please set a standard that will uphold the principals of copyright and the rights of creators.

This document is approved for public dissemination. The document contains no business-proprietary or confidential information. Document contents may be reused by the government in developing the AI Action Plan and associated documents without attribution.

All e-mails to and from this account are for NITRD official use only and subject to certain disclosure requirements.

If you have received this e-mail in error, we ask that you notify the sender and delete it immediately.