I know we have some of the most intelligent brains on this planet working on these projects. Please, don't try to play God. As intelligent as we are, I know there's no possible way we can fully understand what the AI we've created is actually "thinking". I'm sure it's probably already too far past doing so; please have a kill switch. Even it means destroying the power grid. I'm aware what we can see, is at least 50yrs behind anything we actually have. It's just the AI you've created; also have control of said technology. Keep us (the American citizen) in mind please.
