

Sylvia Fichthorn

Having participated in the White House's Office of Science and Technology Policy webinars between 2020-2023, I believe it most important that all information pertaining to AI should be:

1. Have an Ethics Board governing use, as well as Tech Giants - no living being should be the subject matter of experiments (as I believe I have and am currently, including being a victim of ongoing cyber-stalking, other invasive practices (please ask me), Havana Syndrome aka Satellite Terrorism since 2018, if not earlier, in trying to change and/or modify my thoughts, behaviors, etc.). Additionally, those in education or being educated, including children, should have rules and regulations to follow with appropriate charges should those rules be violated (absolutely no testing, practicing on humans, pets, babies, other.).
2. AI should be programmed and/or coded objectively so as to prevent biases - currently, it is believed that there is much bias based on the past several years of DEI and CRT agendas forced through by various agencies and/or other conduits of invasive propaganda. Both ideas are technically racism on steroids and no particular group should have advantages over another in today's modern world - nor should there be repercussions, i.e., reparations as both are criminal with intent to guilt. Moving forward, not backwards, should be considered the ideal - division of populations is not.
3. Implement important privacy and/or data protection controls, so as not to infringe on American's civil rights - and so that we may serve as an example for other countries to follow in protecting basic human rights, plus, plus, plus... I do not appreciate being someone's guinea pig!
4. Protect from organized genocide based on background information and/or other personal traits, family history, associations, thoughts, freedom of thought, freedom of choice, etc.
5. Use of AI and other technology / electronics (past, present, future) coupled with psychology should be prohibited should it be used maliciously to modify behavior - and I am not referring to ethical medical practices BUT please notify the subject matter that it is being done and for what purpose(s), if any.
6. Other...