

From: [REDACTED]
To: ostp-ai-rfi
Subject: [External] AI Action Plan
Date: Sunday, March 16, 2025 12:52:11 AM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside your organization. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

AI steals from the livelihoods of Americans and profits off of theft. People do not want it. People are purposely leaving Google as a search engine because of forced AI, using older versions of windows or switching to Mac, or at the very least disabling it as much as possible. Please stop this madness. It's overhyped, and the only people who think it's intelligent are those too undereducated for their current positions. While it does have a place, that place is in hyper-specific applications like detecting potential cancer before humans notice changes, not with language learning models that don't actually learn language and don't understand real meaning, and simply regurgitate stolen material. I genuinely hope if you do this the random dice roll causes it to regurgitate Disney fan art based input and OpenAI gets sued by said corporation. Whether it's a major company or an individual creator, this is a plagiarism machine writ large that you are giving permission to plagiarize to. Are you prepared to throw all copyright law whatsoever out the window? Can we get that in writing, that no copyright will exist anymore, for anyone, at all, ever again? No? Then don't do this.

Sincerely, Victoria Heather Kerr Meixell
Sent from my iPhone

All e-mails to and from this account are for NITRD official use only and subject to certain disclosure requirements. If you have received this e-mail in error, we ask that you notify the sender and delete it immediately.